Dear M. Goldstein,

I'm sorry about what must seem like a delay in filling your order of the 12th.

It was sent to an address we left 8 years ago.

The books will go out in the next mail, with a list of the others.

Prior to publication I tried to interest CBS is the ancillary rights. I never got a response.

And I've not sold any.

This was and is a great disappointment, particularly because the book was out a month before any of the current CIA stories. I do believe that Dulles' disclosures and what Russell told me, only partly recounted in the book, are without precedent and currently quite topical. To his dying day Russell encouraged me to take the work he signed most reluctantly apart.

I would like to hope that beginning with Watergate there might come a major-media understanding that these subjects do require a full and impartial airing and that this is quite the opposite of anti-Establishmentarian or anti-Government. I believe it serves the best interests of society and decent government.

In this book you will find reference to a case that went to the Supreme Court, where I lost. That was influential in persuading the Senate to amend the law (Congressional Record, 5/30/74) requiring "Freedom of Information." I have started that one all over again, the first suit filed anywhere under the amended law.

If CBS ever gets interested, I have completed the work that should break the JFK case wide open.

Frame-Up has provided the basis for James Earl Ray's defense, which seems to me to be the one way the truth about the King assassination has a chance of being established. I make no public use of it but I am and have been Ray's unpaid investigator.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
